WASHDAY IS IDLE DAY IN BLOOMINGTON

BLOOMINGTON, Ind., Oct. 14.—Though yesterday was the proverbial wash Monday, few washings were seen on the clothes lines. There was not enough water to drink in the city, let alone for laundry purposes, and citizens have been compelled to send their washings to other towns. The drought continues, and there is no sign that it will be broken soon. Even the "blind tigers" are suffering because the usual "chaser" that

Water Works Still Idle.

The water works plant, which was shut down last week, is still idle. Its source of supply, several artificial lakes, have gone dry, the spring that fed the lakes having gone on strike. At least, they refuse to yield any water. The water company is trying to relieve the drought by giving families a limited supply twice a week, but this is not sufficient, except for drinking and cooking purposes. People who wish a bath jump into an auto and ride to White river, 13 miles and take a plunge, but as only a few have machines, many persons have been content with dry rubs.

Durable.

If you have spectacles that are constantly breaking or coming apart with no apparent cause it is due to one of two things. Either the material of the frame is so light that it will stand no strain or else the lenses are not of the right size. If they are a little too large they are screwed too tightly into the frames and the first change of temperature snaps the eye wire. If they are too small they give you trouble by falling out. In putting glasses together I have always looked out for these two points. I see that the lenses fit snugly but are not too tight. My frames are sufficiently heavy and strong to stand any ordinary wear or strain. I propose that all of my glasses shall be durable and satisfactory in every respect.
